To whom it may concern.

Whilst I am fairly new to the pharmacy profession (3 years), I believe the loss of Martindale as a required text will impact on anyone who deals regularly with patients from overseas, as the removal of this will mean a lack of being able to compare brands from overseas and advise accordingly (for example, if they need a prescription in Australia but not overseas, or if the requested medicine is even available in Australia). I do not believe it should be removed as a required text.
